FOREIGN LANGUAGES AS A MEANS OF BUILDING A FUTURE CAREER

In modern times, it's important to know foreign languages, so whether we want it or not, but one of them is English as the language of international business. And ignorance this fact in the current conditions reduces your chances of achieving great results at work. English is needed for communication, traveling abroad, and what is most importantly for work.

English in the modern world has become the main means of intercultural communication. Therefore, one of the conditions of employment is that you need to know it, because companies can provide jobs for frequent work in overseas markets or have partners outside the country. Such an outrage is posed not only to candidates for higher positions, but also to middle-level workers. In vacancy announcements employers demand on the candidate the basic, spoken or fluent English, depending on the position of the company.

The problem is that many people do not think about studying English at the present time. As a result, problems with the employment or development and scale of their own business are turned out.

The purpose of this article is to study the importance of studying English for a future career.

According to the head of the department "Recruitment for the advertising and media industry "Agencies Contact" , "now it's as natural to know English as to have a higher education".

We agree with this statement because employers are now eager to see their English-speaking staff. The level of language proficiency is an indication of the level of motivation, the desire of the person to learn something new and its prospects for the company. The higher the position in the company is, the greater the requirements for language knowledge. This is due to the fact that employees in such a position more often meet with partners, representatives of other companies, including foreign ones. At a business meeting, self-confidence and the ability to correctly submit to the other party are very important. If a person is familiar with the vocabulary, standards for communication, then they feel more confident and reliable for foreign partners.

In addition, we would like to draw attention to the following important aspects of communication that you can take on business English language courses: such as ideal speech, rich vocabulary, and business style of communication - these skills will help you communicate easily and feel sure. You do not have a language barrier and every word which you say will be understood correctly. Language is one of the most effective tools for successful career growth and doing business outside the country.

According to the latest data "the knowledge of foreign language at the beginning of a career can increase the salary level by at least 30%."

Many companies are keen to have employees who want to improve their language skills, thus they organize courses of studying English during the workflow, directly in the office. Conducting such corporate English courses proves a good attitude towards their employees, and thus shows the significance of each frame for the company. As a rule, training is free, most often the course is conducted precisely within the scope of work or even specialty employee.

In conclusion, we would like to say that the knowledge of various languages in present time is a powerful force for finding a perspective job and conducting a business. It is impossible to go on a career ladder within your sphere or to run or set up a company without knowledge of foreign languages.

PROBLEMAS Y PROTECCION DEL MEDIO AMBIENTE

El ambiente o entorno en el que se desarrollan los seres vivos del planeta, constantemente sufre cambios y alteraciones de diversas causas o fuentes. El hombre con sus actividades industriales y comerciales, está causando la mayoría de estas alteraciones. Los problemas ambientales se refieren a situaciones ocasionadas por actividades, procesos o comportamientos humanos, económicos, sociales, culturales y políticos, entre otros; que trastornan el entorno y ocasionan impactos negativos sobre el ambiente, la economía y la sociedad.

Los problemas ambientales son agudos para toda la humanidad. La catástrofe en Chernobyl es el mayor desastre ambiental hasta el día de hoy. Los problemas del calentamiento global y la destrucción de la capa de ozono son consecuencia de la contaminación atmosférica causada por los gases de escape y otros elementos químicos.

La contaminación de los embalses y el suelo con desechos y otros productos afecta negativamente a la salud de los animales que están desapareciendo gradualmente. Especies de árboles y plantas están incluidas en el libro rojo ya que no sobreviven en estas condiciones. Para evitar el problema agudo del calentamiento, la humanidad debería dejar de contaminar deliberadamente el planeta.

Las personas deben viajar en un transporte ecológicamente limpio, no usar aerosoles y no verter los desechos en los cuerpos de agua. Los problemas del calentamiento global son visibles porque todos los veranos son anómalos caliente. Nuestro planeta morirá gradualmente Si la humanidad continúa actuando.
