The problems of homeless animals are under consideration. The author stresses that the problems of homeless animals are consequences of people attitude. The ways of changing homeless animals' situation are proposed.

Автор тез розглядає проблеми тварин, що опинилися на вулиці без укриття, господаря, їжі. Автор нагадує, що проблеми таких тварин – це наслідки ставлення до них людей. Автором запропоновано шляхи рішення цієї проблеми.

Walking along the street, we can always see some creatures. It can be a dog or a cat. They are different but there is one thing which unites all of them. These animals have not any home and any headmaster. The problem of homeless animals is vivid nowadays. People try to find fairer and easier solution of this problem.

As for my point of view, I believe that people should help homeless animals because many animals have become homeless due to human fault.

Usually people take animals home and do not think about responsibility. Animals simply bother them or interfere, and they throw them away as an unnecessary thing on the street without thinking about their future lives. Others on the contrary believe that such animals must be destroyed because they are dangerous. They explain this by the fact that animals attack people and children. I do not agree with such opinion. I have seen many times how children tease animals, offend them and provoke them. Not in all cases but in most of them. I think animals have such an aggressive reaction because they were once offended. But they still continue to believe in the kindness of the people and are drawn to them. They do not care what we are: rich or poor, fat or thin, beautiful or not, they only care what we are and what we love them [1].

There are some ways to help homeless animals:

1) Help the veterinary clinic

There are so-called beneficiaries in veterinary clinics. Beneficiaries are people who help the "founders" or animals in the care of charitable organizations. Go to the nearest clinic and find out about those four-pronged patients who can pay for the treatment. It is not necessary to pay the entire amount; you can donate some part of the total cost.

2) Buy medicines for shelters

Unfortunately, not everyone dares to give money to shelters, being afraid of becoming victims of swindlers. To bring food for animals is also not always effective. Shelter workers themselves admit that often there is no shortage of provisions and the animals do not starve. And what is really required is always and everywhere, so these are medicines especially for diseases which are not uncommon.

3) Start an animal from a shelter or from the street

You can take animals from the shelter. It often happens that in the shelters you can find common breeds of animals. You can also take animals from the street, even if you do not have the opportunity to take the animal forever to yourself, you can give it in good hands.

4) Publish posts on social networks

One should write about the problem of homeless animals and this post is immediately picked up and distributed throughout the network. It has a positive effect. As workers of shelters claim after such posts on social networks people bring food and medicines. There are many communities on social networks which were organized that to help homeless animals. They can publish posts about helping animals or advertisements in which animals are given in good hands [1].

So, to help homeless animals can be a dozen ways: signing petitions, lobbying bills, legal assistance to shelters, which they sometimes require. You just need to be not indifferent. Find the way that is convenient for you, and remember we are still responsible for those who have tamed.
